nese guns have been destroyed since then. Little of the strategic situation has developed so far. Official news from the front says that there was desperate fighting on the southern center, while from information from other sources, it appears that the Japanese are endeavoring to turn the Russian right from the neighborhood of the junction of the Taitse and Sakhe Rivers. The fighting on the western flank appears to have approached within three miles of Liao Yang.

The news from Port Arthur up to August 26th, was reassuring. An account of the battleship Sevastopol having gone out on August 23d to bombard the Japanese in Tahy bay, does not mention that vessel striking a mine. A dispatch from Vladivostok mentions the presence there of General Rennenkampf, who recently left the hospital at Liao Yang on sick leave.

FOUGHT UNTIL NIGHTFALL;

JAPANESE HURLED BACK

(By Associated Press.)

LONDON, Aug. 30.—A dispatch from Liao Yang to a news agency, dated August 30th, says: "The Japanese artillery fire only ceased at 8 o'clock this evening. The casualties have not yet been ascertained. The third Russian corps repulsed a hot Japanese assault, the Japanese being hurled back by bayonet charges, firstly by the Twenty-third and then by the Twenty-fourth Regiments, which received and repulsed the enemy, no less than six times.

"Two Japanese companies which succeeded in occupying a Russian position were mistaken for Russians and annihilated by Japanese artillery fire. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon, the Japanese concentrated their fire on a Russian detachment and also tried to outflank the detachment from the right, under the protection of the batteries. One company after another was noticed running swiftly to the westward in an attempt to outflank the positions, but a Russian regiment and a battery were ordered to advance and succeeded in forcing the enemy to retreat in disorder, evacuating positions they previously gained.

"There has been an immense expenditure of ammunition throughout the day, especially on the southern front against the Russian third corps. It is believed that the Russian losses so far have not been very heavy, except to the regiments which sustained bayonet charges. All the men serving one Russian gun except one, were killed by shrapnel. The survivor, who was badly wounded, heroically brought his gun to headquarters and even then refused to quit his place until the general peremptorily ordered him into the hospital.

"A more energetic attack is expected to-morrow. It seems that General Kuroki's force did not participate in to-day's engagement. The morale of the Russian troops is excellent."

RECORD OF A DAY.

Details of Yesterday's Struggle of the Great Armies Near Liao Yang.

(By Associated Press.) LIAO YANG, August 30, 2 A. M.—To-day is the anniversary of the birth of the Japanese Emperor, and the Russian army expects a general advance upon its positions around Liao Yang. Everybody is keyed up for the long awaited moment, and the soldiers take to-day's probable evening with confidence. From early morning until noon yesterday in Liao Yang could be heard the dull rumble of distant guns. Then a lull of four hours ensued when, suddenly, firing reopened to the southwest heavier and nearer than before, and continued with but little intermission until darkness fell. Every man is to-night sleeping at his post and dawn may bring a day memorable in history.

Shower of Shrapnel.

10 A. M.—From 5 o'clock this morning up to 9 o'clock there has been an incessant shower of shrapnel. The heaviest cannonading is coming from the southwest, where the Japanese evidently have numerous guns. Deadly shells are bursting everywhere, their white smoke being distinctly traceable against the dark foliage on the mountain side.

The Japanese are searching the whole country side with their fire, selecting certain squares of territory on which for a few moments they mass a hail of shot and shell from all their guns. Then they pass to another square, thus striking the whole field with mathematical precision, from right to left. In this way the entire Russian front has been systematically searched in the first four hours of the cannonading.

Then began the general Japanese advance along the whole front of Liao Yang. At 10 A. M. the Japanese artillery fire has somewhat slackened, but this infantry is steadily pushing forward. The Russians have been holding their ground gallantly and their losses are small, considering the terrible nature of the Japanese fire.

Growing in Intensity.

6:45 P. M.—The battle is growing in intensity. The Japanese fire is chiefly directed on the Russian southern end. The advance was pressed with such vigor that it developed into a hand to hand fighting, the Twenty-third Regiment repelling an attack at the point of the bayonet. One Japanese battery was dismantled.

Wounded men have been pouring into Liao Yang since 8 o'clock this morning, mostly hurt by shrapnel shells and some by rifle bullets. The heaviest of the shrapnel has been showered with projectiles.

Russian correspondent of the Associated Press, supplies the following: "Historical moment has arrived and the battle of Liao Yang is in progress."

"It was not 6 o'clock this morning when the first gun was fired, but soon afterwards hundreds of cannon were thundering along our southern and eastern fronts."

"The center of our position is located near the famous tower of Liao Yang, about seven miles to the southwest. The fighting there was of the most desperate fueled by four days' fighting, sustained a rear guard action."

JAPANESE REPULSED.

Russians Suffer in Hot Fire, But Successfully Resist Attack.

(By Associated Press.) ST. PETERSBURG, August 30.—A dispatch from Mukden, of to-day's date, says that in the stubbornly fought battle which has been in progress near Liao Yang since this morning all attempts of the Japanese to turn the Russian flank have been repulsed. It is said at Mukden that the Japanese lost over ten guns, but details have not been received there. A dispatch from General Sakharoff, dated from Liao Yang at 10 A. M. to-day says:

"The main Japanese attack is being directed against the Russian center and right, where the Russian losses have been the heaviest. The Japanese posted numerous artillery within range of all the Russian positions during the night. A hot fire was opened at 5 A. M., and by 6 o'clock the Japanese were close to the Russian positions.

"The Japanese shrapnel fire inflicted considerable loss on our troops at several points. Lieutenant-Colonel Pokaloff, commanding a battery of the Sixth East Siberian Brigade, was killed.

"The Japanese are delivering an obstinate attack on our center. At 3 o'clock this morning, they were in close proximity to our advance guard."

The last telegram from the front states that the Japanese have 1,200 guns near Liao Yang. Several telegrams from Lieutenant-General Sakharoff were received during the day and forwarded to the Emperor. They have not yet been published.

Advancing Along Taitse River. General Sakharoff reports that a large Japanese force is advancing northward along the Taitse River valley, west of the railroad.

The report from General Sakharoff also announces an engagement between a Russian force and one hundred and fifty Chinese bandits, of whom about fifty were killed.

In a brief telegram received to-day General Kuroki says the general advance of the Japanese began yesterday at noon, the Russian outposts falling back upon the main line. The heaviest fighting was taking place when his dispatch was sent, from a point ten miles southeast of Liao Yang, where the Japanese seemed to be concentrating for their main blow.

This was the first time the Russians toward Liao Yang, has not been given out, for strategic reasons.

The Russian cavalry won a notable success west of Liao Yang, repulsing a Japanese advance from the Taitse River. This was the first time the Russian cavalry had an opportunity to charge the Japanese on open ground since the war began.

TOKIO REPORT.

Account of Operations Around Liao Yang Up to August 28th.

(By Associated Press.) TOKIO, Aug. 30.—P. M.—Details of the operations against Liao Yang from August 25th to 28th, which include an account of the desperate three days' battle in the neighborhood of Anshihai and the abandonment of Anshihai, reached Tokyo to-day.

The Japanese army, which was divided into three columns, and moved against Anping, where the Russians occupied a steep and well fortified eminence, which they had spent months in strengthening. The Russian position, strengthened by the Russian artillery, along a ridge north of Taisihai, to Hundshaling through Hannolin and Tientsun. The advantages were with the Russians. The Japanese were not able to secure good positions for their artillery except along the Taitse River.

The Japanese left column, the principal strength of which was in infantry, attacked an eminence north of Taisihai at dawn of the 25th. The Russian artillery, with some permanent fortifications north of Taisihai and northwest of Kaofensu, and in strength was superior to that of the Japanese. Between 2 and 4 o'clock the afternoon, the Japanese fire was divided at times, but the Japanese were unable to silence the enemy's guns. The Russian infantry was reinforced and pressed against the Japanese. The Japanese troops were dangerously exposed and the advance of the left column retired.

In the meantime the Japanese center had pierced the Russian line, completely dividing it, but the Russian right wing held their positions firmly.

During the night of the 26th the Japanese made fruitless assaults upon the Russian positions at Hundshaling and Taisihai. They finally succeeded, however, in getting possession of the position at Hundshaling, where they captured eight machine guns and previously wrought havoc in their lines.

On the morning of the 27th, through mist and haze, all three of the Japanese columns moved forward vigorously, and it was nightfall before the Japanese were in possession of the long ridge. The most fierce engagements of August 28th occurred at Hundshaling and Kungshaling.

The moonlight revealed the Japanese troops as they advanced. The Russian defenders of these positions, beside opening a fierce rifle fire, on the 28th, rolled boulders down the hillside upon the Japanese. The Japanese soldiers, who removed their fire and climbed steeply upward, finally reaching the summit and driving the Russians out.

The main force of the Japanese, in this fighting numbered two thousand. The estimate is given of the Russian casualties, but they are believed to have been heavy. The Japanese advanced along the Taitse River, clearing away small forces of Russians.

Abandoned Position. The Russians abandoned their positions without offering resistance. The Japanese pursued the enemy and overtook him east of the road in the neighborhood of Taisihai.

neighborhood of Taisihai, Taisihai and Pakushan, and attacked vigorously at 6 o'clock in the morning of the 28th. The Russians retreated in confusion toward North Shaho. The column of Japanese infantry and artillery, which pursued the Russians on the west side, entered the main body of the enemy as it was retreating to the northwest, and drove it also toward North Shaho.

In these engagements the Japanese captured eight guns and a number of ammunition and commissary wagons.

NEWS FROM STOESEL.

Reports That Japanese Have Been Repulsed at Port Arthur With Heavy Losses.

(By Associated Press.) ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 30.—Direct news from Lieutenant-General Stoessel, commander of the Russian military forces at Port Arthur up to August 28th, has been received here.

General Stoessel reports that the Japanese attacks were repulsed till August 28th, when heavy losses to the attackers. He gives no details of the positions held or of the Russian losses to men, but says the officers suffered severely, especially the younger ones. Some of the larger Russian guns were placed out of action by the Japanese batteries, and were replaced by field pieces. The General describes the stench from the decaying bodies between the lines as being horrible.

Finally, the General commands Generals Frook, Kondratenko, Smyrnoff and others for bravery and devotion.

TERRIFIC FIGHTING.

Chinese Junk Brings News of Heavy Losses to Both Sides at Pali Chuang.

(By Associated Press.) CHE FOO, August 30.—P. M.—A junk which left the Liao river promontory the afternoon of August 28th brings confirmation of the report of fighting at Pali Chuang on the 28th, making it clear that there had been a fight of several days' duration in that section, during which both sides lost heavily. The Japanese succeeded in holding their position until morning, when they were driven back by the Chinese. The Chinese carried off a large number of Russian prisoners and a large quantity of Russian arms and ammunition.

Chinese who came by this junk affirm that the Russians are firing shells from Pashan and Anshihai fort. This may mean that there is another undestroyed fort at Pashan or that the Russians have recaptured that position.

One of the Chinese declared that he has been engaged for twenty days in carrying the Russian dead from the front near Taping Tse.

LONG WAS DISQUALIFIED

Became Exhausted and Rode Three Miles in an Automobile.

(By Associated Press.) ST. LOUIS, August 30.—The Olympic Marathon race, the third foot race contest of the kind ever held, and the first ever held on American soil, participated in by thirty-one men clasped among the fittest runners of the world, was won to-day by Thomas J. Hicks, of Cambridge, Mass., who is the first American to win this event celebrated in the revival of Olympic games.

Albert J. Corey, of Chicago, a native born Frenchman, crossed the goal line second, and A. L. Newton, of New York city, crossed third. The distance of the race was forty kilometers, equal to twenty-four miles and 1,500 yards. This distance was run by Hicks in the officially announced time of three hours, twenty-eight minutes and fifty-three seconds. Corey, three hours, thirty-four minutes and sixteen seconds; Newton, three hours, forty-seven minutes and thirty-three seconds.

The winner of to-day's race received a cup presented by President Francis of the Exposition, and an Olympic championship gold medal; the second a silver medal, and the third of bronze.

Fred Long, of New York city, was the first runner to cross the goal line, but he was immediately disqualified. On the charge that he had ridden about three miles in an automobile in traversing the course over the country roads. Long readily admitted that he had done so because of physical exhaustion for a time.

Great Crowd Present. There were thousands of spectators in the stadium, amphitheatre to witness the start. Forty runners had been entered in the race, but only thirty-one started, of whom sixteen were Americans, ten Greeks, two Kaffirs, one Cuban, one Frenchman and one man from South Africa.

The starter's pistol cracked at 8:03 o'clock and Hicks sprang into the lead, with the field following at his heels. The racers ran five laps on the stadium track and then passed through a gate which was designated by red flags showing the way. The course led over hills and through valleys innumerable, being pronounced one of the most beautiful and down-hill courses ever run by athletes in an event, and the roads were deep in dust. A vanguard of horsemen cleared the thoroughfares, and judges, physicians and newspaper men followed in automobiles.

Running of Hicks. Hicks ran with a mechanical exactness, slowly and with every step of his body indicating by its regularity and apparent effort that he was suffering from fatigue. But he was full of grit. In answer to a question as to how he was feeling, he called back over his shoulder: "I want something to eat as soon as I get there. I'm nearly starved." He maintained his pace until within two miles of the goal, when he dropped to a walk in climbing a hill, the top of the hill being reached at the first time he had ceased to run. He vigorously renewed his flagging energy, and he broke into a pace, maintaining it until he reached the entrance to the stadium track. Then amid tremendous cheering he crossed the goal line, and the crowd lowered him to the ground.

Grand Circuit Races. (By Associated Press.) PROVIDENCE, Aug. 30.—The big trial at the Grand Circuit races to-day was the Park Brew stake, for a purse of $5,000. There were five entries, and the race was practically a two-horse race between Gallagher, the Canadian horse, and John M. Brown, the former was favored over the field, but John M. won. The first heat of the race made the record in the event, Oxborn lowering the record by a half second.
